The IAEA's Legislative Assistance Programme: Addressing Member States Needs

The IAEA, through its technical cooperation programme and Office of Legal Affairs, supports Member States in developing and maintaining national legal frameworks for the safe, secure and peaceful use of nuclear technology.

The IAEA has provided legislative assistance to Member States since its inception. During the last ten years, more than 80 Member States have received IAEA assistance for developing or revising their national nuclear laws, many of which have completed the legislative process or are in the final stages of doing so.

During the panel officials from some of these Member States and from the IAEA Secretariat will exchange views on past experiences, benefits and needs of IAEA's legislative assistance activities.
