

Elba Cristina Sá de Camargo Etchebehere

University of Campinas (UNICAMP), Campinas, Brazil

Elba Etchebehere is a Professor at the University of Campinas (UNICAMP) and Director of a chain of private nuclear medicine laboratories (MND group) in Brazil. Professor Etchebehere has always been involved in research and training of residents in the field of Nuclear Medicine in Brazil and had an active role in auditing the quality of education of nuclear medicine physicians in the country. She is currently President of the Scientific Committee of the Brazilian Society of Nuclear Medicine.

Professor Etchebehere and her group have published approximately 200 scientific papers and abstracts and have been awarded more than 15 prizes in scientific papers as well as written over 10 book chapters and books.

She has also been involved in approximately 400 scientific presentations, scientific paper reviews, nuclear medicine congresses and symposiums and thesis debates.