

IAEA Library at a glance

Library

Established in 1957

Provides access to nuclear literature and support to the IAEA's programmatic activities

Library
collection

Maintains a specialized collection in all areas of nuclear energy and its applications

Electronic resources

Offers global access to the library catalogue and over 60 databases at its premises

International
resource exchange

Coordinates the International Nuclear Library Network (INLN) and participates in inter-library loans with Member States' libraries