SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION

1. Effect of deposits of instruments of acceptance. The amendment will come into force when it has been accepted by two thirds of all the Members of the Agency in accordance with their respective constitutional processes, as provided for by Article XVIII. C. (ii) of the Statute.
2. Application of the amendment to Berlin (West). In a note dated 3 September 1971 the Embassy of the Federal Republic of Germany referred to the instrument of acceptance that had been deposited by its Government on 1 September 1971, and declared:

"... that the said amendment shall apply to Berlin in the same manner as the Statute itself."

(Circular of 23 September 1971, enclosure)
3. Application of the amendment to the Netherlands Antilles and Surinam. The instrument of acceptance by the Netherlands states that the Government of the Kingdom of the Netherlands accepts the amendment "for the Kingdom in Europe, for Surinam and for the Netherlands Antilles".
