Living the Legacy

A MESSAGE FROM MR NR MANDELA

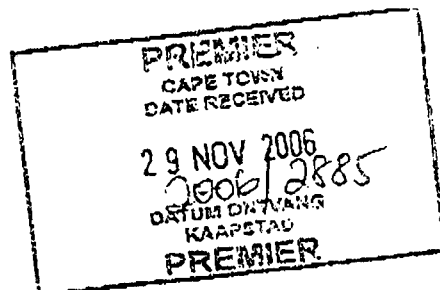

It is my pleasure to extend a warm welcome to delegates attending the International Atomic Energy Agency Nobel Prize special event for Africa in Cape Town.

The International Atomic Energy Agency and its Director-General, Mohamed ElBaradei, won the Nobel Peace Prize for their tireless work in reducing the risk of nuclear warfare. The event today also highlights the important role that the Agency plays in fostering the peaceful use of nuclear energy for human benefit in fields such as health.

With like-minded bodies, it is active in mobilising public awareness and financial support for improving cancer treatment in countries where there is a great need. In these countries, improved access to skill and technology can often make the difference between life and death.

This event is the first of a series of three global meetings aimed at improving the training of cancer professionals. We are proud that this meeting is being hosted in South Africa, also with representation from all over Africa. I wish the meeting every success, and have faith that many communities will benefit from the knowledge shared and gained at this event.
